DESIGNER NOTES

The TENAJ Park Bench offers a curvy, metallic, and modern look that still retained the low maintenance and comfort benefits of recycled plastic. The arm rests and seat back are strategically designed to prevent and deter skate boarders while still maintaining a comfort level that customers have grown to expect from Wishbone.

A simplistic fastening system was designed to make this bench a breeze to ship and assemble on site, saving time and money through the installation process. The TENAJ Bench has a low environmental impact by utilizing 100% recycled plastic lumber and aluminum from recycled automobile rims.

The name for this futuristic bench came about when the designer's wife commented that although several of his friends already had a 'namesake' bench she was still waiting. See if you can figure out the how she got her way. (Hint: some things work better backwards)
